Automobile Show Bigger, Better, Busier

Exhibitors at Kingston's Big 1927 Automobile Show Ready To Take Care of Record Crowd During Closing Days—Great Interest Displayed Forecasts Many Sales—Horace Ruwe, Celebrated Tenor, Will Sing Several Selections.

With fifty-four of the latest model automobiles, valued at over $80,000, parked on the floor of the big drill shed of the state armory on Broadway, Kingston's 1927 automobile show on Wednesday afternoon and evening drew an exceptionally large attendance and all indications point to the fact that in interest and attendance this year's show will shatter all previous records.

"A Car For Every Family."

Those who visit the big show are struck by the advance made by the automobile industry in the past ten years. This year's cars embody the highest principles of both the engineer's and the builder's art. Graceful lines, beautiful colors and richly upholstered interiors mark all of the cars on exhibition.

Ten years ago a census of the automobile industry in Ulster county showed that there were some 3,300 cars owned in the county, while today that number has increased to approximately 15,000.

"And The End Is Not Yet."

And judging from the interest displayed by those attending the show the end is not yet and this summer will see an even larger number of cars owned in Ulster county than ever before which may be directly traced to the effect of the auto show on the buying public.

Tagged With Price.

Practically every car displayed carries a tag on which is given the information as to the delivered price of that particular car in Kingston. If the purchaser desires to buy a car on the installment plan—a plan which is growing steadily in popularity—the tag gives the amount required for the first payment and the amount of the monthly installments until the car is paid for.

Vaudeville and Music.

To add to the gaiety of the big show delightful musical programs are given every afternoon and evening by the orchestras of John Erne and Paul Zucca, while today and Friday an exceptionally fine vaudeville program has been arranged.

The bill is topped by Horace Ruwe, the tenor soloist who made such a hit at the Knights of Columbus ball at the armory last Friday, who will sing several selections. Other acts on the bill are Smith and Lee, billed as sensational hand balancers, and Robeni and Rosi, a classy musical act.

Saturday—the closing day of the big show—there will be an entire change of vaudeville, which will be announced later.

"Car to Fit Every Purse."

The slogan of the big show this year appears to be: "A Car to Fit Every Purse."

Ranging in price from $600 to over $5,000 are to be found cars that appeal not only to the man in moderate circumstances but the man who prefers the high priced automobile.

"A Brilliant Scene."

With the artistic decorations forming a charming background to the automobile display it is a gay scene that greets the visitor to the big show as he enters the drill shed.

On every hand are parked the last word in automobiles brilliant in coloring and graceful in line. Just to glance across the floor of the drill shed fills the visitor with a thrill for never before in the history of Kingston automobile shows has there been assembled a finer and more complete line of the leading automobile manufacturers of the United States.

Small cars, medium cars and big cars stand side by side each with its own particular appeal to the automobile loving public.

All throughout Wednesday afternoon and evening groups of interested people gathered around the various cars while salesmen explained the finer points of the car calling attention to the many improvements that had been made over previous year's models.

Display Well Arranged.

The display of cars this year is well arranged affording plenty of space for those interested to view every car exhibited on all sides. At every booth interesting booklets may be had illustrating the various makes of automobiles.

Salesmen Kept Busy.

The large force of salesmen at the various booths were kept busy afternoon and evening explaining the fine points of the cars they handled. That it was more than interest on the part of the public is shown by the fact that many of the dealers are reporting sales of cars at the show.

"Hot Dogs Bark."

Above the hum of the interested audience can also be heard the bark of the hot dogs from the [illegible] plant on Abeel street which are served red hot and which met with a ready sale from those who thronged the show.

Bigger and Better.

The wise term "Bigger and Better" is the only one that can be applied to Kingston's 1927 Automobile Show, for those who have been regular attendants at auto shows in the city all agree that this year's display is far superior to that of other years.

There is a reason for that for the automobile industry has reached the point where it is possible to turn out a first class car at a moderate price. In other years the closed car was priced so high that it was only the fortunate few who felt able to purchase one. Today all that is changed and it is possible to obtain a first class closed car at but a slight advance in price over the open models.

"A Closed Car Show."

The auto show this year is practically a closed car show, as but two dealers are displaying open models. The George J. Schryver Motor Car Company is showing a new open Whippet while William J. McGrath is showing an open Buick sport model. Both cars are very attractive and attract considerable attention.

Radios and Accessories.

In conjunction with the display of automobiles is to be found the accessories department which also comes in for considerable attention, while the radio is also a featured exhibit at the show.

Plan for Record Attendance.

So great has been the interest displayed in the auto show the first two days that it is planned to care for a record attendance during the closing days.

Whether thinking of purchasing a new car or not this season, it will repay everyone to attend the big show before it closes Saturday night.

Disastrous Fire At Jersey Pier

Jersey City, N. J., March 3 (AP).—After six hours of toil in a driving gale and sub-freezing weather, 27 companies of firemen today conquered a fire that had threatened to burn out the Hudson river front. Loss was estimated at from $750,000 to $1,000,000.

Starting before midnight, it is believed, from defective wiring in the timekeepers office of Pier K, the flames consumed that pier, leaped a freight yard to the Morgan street dock and virtually destroyed three warehouses there, about fifteen loaded freight cars and three barges were also burned.

Pier K was loaded with freight, much of it reported highly valuable. The pier projected into the river 600 feet and was 80 feet wide.

About 50 tugs of various railroads and the fire apparatus of the Pennsylvania railroad, which owns Pier K assisted city firemen. Firemen asserted that on the first alarm they were held up 20 minutes by freight cars five deep blocking a crossing.

About 1,500 men employed on the pier and in the warehouses were thrown out of work.

Coolidges Move Into New Home

Washington, March 3 (AP).—The home address of President and Mrs. Coolidge is now No. 15 du Pont Circle and will continue to be for the next six months.

The Coolidges have moved from the White House to make way for workmen who have a repair job which will probably take until September 1 to complete.

They have taken the 30 room stucco home set aside for them by Mrs. Elinor Schlesinger, the former Elinor Patterson of Chicago. The house, designed by Stanford White, noted architect killed by Harry K. Thaw, is ten blocks from the White House and it will be necessary for the president to travel this distance to his daily labors in the west wing executive offices, which will not be touched by the repairmen.

The White House repairs will be confined to the roof, which has been judged unsafe, and the upper floor. Workmen already are in the preliminary stages of the job.

Turns Money Over To Sheriff.

Harry Cole of Saugerties, Route 2, found a sum of money Wednesday afternoon on Wall street. He was unable to learn who had mislaid the money and finding no name or address among the matter found he turned it over to the sheriff and Under Sheriff Doyle deposited the money in the county safe where it awaits identification by the owner.

Man Hunt for Two Convicts

Mystery Surrounds Manner in Which Two Escape From Sing Sing—Pioli Has at Least Three Killings to His Record.

Ossining, N. Y., March 3 (AP).—A man hunt was on today both outside and inside the walls of Sing Sing prison for two convicts who were missed last night. One of them is Frank Pioli, 28, noted gunman, the killer of "Big Bill" Brennan, prize fighter.

Pioli and George Walmale, 48, serving four years for carrying a pistol, were missed from their cells at the regular after supper check of prisoners. The deep-toned siren of Sing Sing immediately was sounded, warning the countryside for a radius of ten miles that there had been an escape.

One hundred and fifty armed men and 30 guards started a thorough search of the prison grounds and the bleak country about Ossining while New York police spread a dragnet about the criminal haunts of the pair.

Mystery surrounds the manner in which Pioli and Walmale made their escape. No discarded prison clothing was found and guards along the prison wall and the Hudson river said no one had passed the sentry line during the day. The icy water of the Hudson would have prevented any attempt to escape by swimming, it is believed.

Pioli and Walmale occupied cells in the same cell block but some distance from each other. Pioli was employed as a waiter in the mess hall and Walmale as a laborer in the prison yard.

Pioli, known as "Babe" because of his delicate appearance, has at least three killings to his crime record of 14 years. He was serving a 20 year sentence for manslaughter. The killing of Brennan occurred in 1924 at the latter's New York night club. On the same occasion a state policeman was killed either by "Babe" or a companion. Previously Pioli had been indicted for the killing of his own brother and the shooting of his mother at a New Year's eve party.

POLICE LIEUTENANT SHOT IN LEG BY BURGLARS.

Buffalo, March 3 (AP).—Police Lieutenant Frank Dempsey was shot in the leg today when, with four patrolmen, he attempted to halt an automobile used by three burglars to escape from a haberdashery store which they had looted.

The robbery occasioned a running battle of several blocks before the burglars' car outdistanced one driven by the police. Both machines were riddled by bullets.

In another shooting today Alfred Campenello was seriously wounded by an unidentified man in a clothes shop. Campenello entered the store and the stranger followed him, starting firing as soon as both were inside.

The gunman escaped. Campenello declared he did not know the man.

WANTS ACTION DEFERRED ON EYE-TEST BILL

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP).—Attorney General Ottinger today asked the Legislature to postpone action on the eye-test bill proposed by the industrial survey commission.

Backed by an opinion of the court of appeals, which suggested that determination of a standard method of ascertaining loss of visual efficiency by injured workmen be placed with the state industrial commission, the Attorney-General characterized the bill as "inadequate" to cope with numerous accidents to workmen's eyes each year. A bill, framed by the Attorney General, would have given this power to the commission. In view of the decision, he believes the bill now is unnecessary.

Vessels Caught in Atlantic Gale

Coast Guard Busy During Night Answering Distress Calls from Vessels Pitched About on Atlantic—No Loss of Life Reported.

Norfolk, Va., March 3 (AP)—Pitched about by a strong northeast gale sweeping the south Atlantic coast, vessels of all descriptions, many in a precarious position, were awaiting responses today to distress calls that kept coast guard headquarters here in an all-night buzz of activity.

No loss of life had been reported early today, although 25 passengers and a large crew were reported on board one of the vessels in danger of being broken up. High winds and snow have held passenger steamers close to port, sailing being deferred until the storm has abated.

Among the vessels caught in the blizzard, which also has done considerable damage and tied up traffic inland, are the coastwise passenger liner City of St. Louis, reported disabled off Cape Hatteras with a broken steering gear.

The coast guard cutter Carrabassett was on the way to the vessels aid early today after having pulled from a sand bar near the Cape Henry lighthouse the British steamer King David, which cleared from New York yesterday for the Canal Zone. The ship was floated at 1:20 a. m. and proceeded into Hampton Roads.

The steamer Firmore, Daiquiri for Baltimore, whose position is not known, also is reported aground.

The Cape Charles and Winter Quarter lightships broke away from their moorings last night and early today were believed drifting, but safely riding the storm under their own power.

Jury Still Out In Daugherty Case

Federal Court, New York, March 3 (AP).—The jury holding the fate of former Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty, and former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller on charges of conspiracy today entered the third day of its deliberations without any sign of a verdict being reached.

The jurors returned from their quarters at the Hotel McAlpin before the arrival in court of defendants or counsel and immediately retired to the jury room to resume their consideration of the case.

The jury was locked up at 11 o'clock last night after it had the case thirty-four hours.

Daugherty and Miller are charged with having conspired to defraud the government of their honest and unbiased services in connection with the approval of $7,000,000 claims, representing proceeds of the sale of impounded stock of the American Metal Company.

Protests Against Tax on Gasoline

Organized Labor, Automobile Associations and Representatives of Boards of Supervisors Unite Filing Protests Against Tax on Gasoline.

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP).—Organized labor, automobile associations and representatives of boards of supervisors united today in manifesting their opposition to a tax on gasoline. The protests were laid before the joint legislative committee on taxation and retrenchment at a hearing on 12 bills proposing a gasoline tax in one form or another.

Emanuel Koveleskie, representing the State Federation of Labor, declared that imposition of the tax would work a hardship on the working man who operated a small automobile. Senator Seabury C. Mastick, chairman of the senate committee on taxation, who presided at the hearing, told Mr. Koveleskie that the small car owner's tax for the year was estimated at nine dollars, and asked if that would be a hardship.

"It would," Mr. Koveleskie asserted. "Nine dollars will buy two pairs of shoes for the working man's children, and without these shoes the children might go barefoot."

Frank E. Freedman, of the Erie county board of supervisors, objected to most of the gas tax bills because they did not provide for the return of any portion of the tax to the counties. He denounced the measures as class legislation which sought to impose a tariff on a single commodity.

The New York Automobile Merchants' Association, represented by Herbert McLear, opposed the tax on the ground that the bills under consideration gave no assurance that the additional moneys received would be expended on highway maintenance and construction. He predicted that imposition of a gasoline tax would be followed by a reduction in the income tax.

Truman H. Preston, who said he spoke for the 8,600 members of the Automobile Club of Syracuse, declared that the motorist was not the chief beneficiary of good roads. The real estate interests and commercial enterprises, he said, were the principal beneficiaries, with the motorists in third place.

FURTHER INQUIRY INTO "JERRY TARBOTT" CASE.

Washington, March 3 (AP).—"Jerry Tarbott", the living "unknown soldier", whose claims of having been shell shocked out of his memory in the World War have carried federal and private investigators along a circuitous and endless trail to learn his real identity, must await completion of a department of justice inquiry before he can hope for recognition as a genuine American war veteran.

Decision to postpone action on a bill which would give Tarbott an honorable discharge from the army and full compensation status with the veterans' bureau, pending a final report on the case by the justice department, was reached by the House Veterans' Committee last night after a dramatic day and night hearing which developed charges that the man was "a crook, draft dodger and a fraud".

The allegation was made by Representative Johnson, Republican, South Dakota, chairman of the committee, and was heatedly denied by Tarbott, who was present during both sessions.

"It's a lie, it's a lie," he shouted at the chairman. "There is plenty of evidence to show that I served at Belleau Wood."

NATIONALISTS MOVE TOWARD NANKING RAILWAY.

Shanghai, March 3 (AP).—There were increasing indications today that the next major effort by the Nationalists would not be a direct advance upon Shanghai but a thrust in the direction of the Nanking Railway, with the object of cutting off General Chang Tsung-Chang's Shantungese forces from their base.

A Nationalist raiding party is reported to have engaged the northerners at Wukiang, ten miles south of Soochow, on the Nanking Railway, and there are other indications that the southerners are advancing in strength to the west of Taihu Lake.

The retirement of Li Pao-Chang as defense commissioner of Shanghai was in accordance with the elimination from the Shanghai area of all those connected with the collapsed forces of Marshal Chun Chuan-Fang, who until ten days ago was the chief defender of this city against the Nationalists.

Ellenville Assault Hearing Before a Jury on March 11

Motion To Transfer Case To Justice of the Peace Denied, Jury Drawn and Hearing Set for Same Date As John Doe Proceedings—Frank W. Brooks Appears for Defendants.

Ellenville, March 3—(Special).—The adjourned hearing before Police Justice Moffit this morning in the cases of Chief of Police Roy M. Currey, Mrs. Melissa Currey, his wife, and Mrs. Ruth A. Sanderson, wife of Arland J. Sanderson, on whose complaint Mrs. Sanderson and Mr. and Mrs Currey were arrested February 23, ended in another adjournment without any evidence being taken.

The only case moved was that of Roy M. Currey, chief of police of Ellenville, whose counsel, Frank W. Brooks of Kingston, demanded that authority be given a justice of the peace of the town of Wawarsing to hold the hearing and examination and that the matter be transferred to such justice of the peace. This was denied by Justice Moffit.

Mr. Brooks then asked for a jury trial, which was granted and jurors drawn, after which the matter was adjourned to March 11, at 10 o'clock a. m., before Justice Moffit.

Leroy Lounsbury appeared for the complainant.

The motions made in the Currey case and the disposition made of them and of the case apply to the cases of the two other defendants.

March 11, to which date the matter was adjourned, is the date set for the John Doe proceeding in Ellenville before County Judge Fowler to inquire into the alleged assaulting of Sanderson on the night of December 22 by four men robed in white.

Sanderson asserts that his wife, from whom he is separated, Chief of Police Currey and Mrs. Currey procured the assault.

Nurse's Mistake Caused 5 Deaths

Death of Five Baby Girls at Chicago Hospital Blamed on Nurse, Who Used Antiseptic Solution for Distilled Drinking Water.

Chicago, March 3 (AP).—A nurse's error in mistaking a bottle of mild antiseptic solution for distilled drinking water was blamed today by staff doctors at Columbus Memorial Hospital for the deaths of five baby girls, the eldest of them only two weeks old.

All five infants died within the space of a few hours in convulsions, at first attributed to an epidemic of intestinal influenza, while their mothers lay convalescing in an adjoining ward.

The sudden illness and almost simultaneous deaths of the babies yesterday led to Health Commissioner Bundesen joining an investigation which ended in agreement that accidental administration of borac acid solution probably was to blame.

Because of the mildness of the solution, doubt was expressed that it would prove fatal in one internal dose, but the doctors said it could cause death in the case of infants, by upsetting the ratio of acid and alkali in the body, they explained, the antiseptic could result in high temperature, malnutrition and pneumonia.

Impeachment of Judge Dearth

George R. Dale, Muncie Newspaper Publisher, Wins Four-Year Fight Against Judge Clarence W. Dearth.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 3 (AP).—A four-year fight between George R. Dale, Muncie newspaper publisher, and Judge Clarence W. Dearth of the Delaware county circuit court, has reached a climax in the impeachment of the judge on charges that he exceeded his judicial authority in the prosecution of the editor.

The impeachment was voted yesterday by the House of Representatives of the general assembly, the action being the first of its kind in Indiana since 1835, and the first under the state's present Constitution.

Six managers will be named by the House to prosecute Judge Dearth before the Senate. Upon presentation of the articles of impeachment, probably today, he automatically will be suspended from the bench.

Confident that no action would be taken on a contempt indictment facing him in Muncie, Mr. Dale, whose attacks on Judge Dearth and other Muncie officials were followed by the publisher's citations for contempt and libel planned to return there soon from Fort Recovery, Ohio, just over the state line, where he has been directing publishing of his weekly newspaper by telephone. Dale had attacked in his paper alleged tax law enforcement in Muncie. Dale's paper was moved from Muncie to Portland to escape jurisdiction of Judge Dearth's court.

USE NEW RAYS AS AID TO MAN

Scientists Employ Them in Radio, Surgery and Many Inventions.

Washington.—The same day's news carried a story from London that ultra-violet rays are making the animals of the zoo more contented, and a story from Camden, New Jersey, that seeds and tubers treated with X-rays produce greater yields. These are additional evidences of the world's debt to rays, many of them little known. A bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society deals further with this subject.

"Rays are not abstractions of physicists or unusual phenomena to be dealt with only in laboratories," says the bulletin." "They are more truly the mainspring of the earth, making life in all its forms possible.

Make Life Possible.

"The sun's rays are the prerequisite for the world as we know it. But for the warmth and light flowing to us through 93,000,000 miles of 'space,' the earth would be a lifeless cinder, without vegetation and without even the lowest animate forms. As it is, the rays or waves of heat and light flow to us in a mighty stream, for all practical purposes unending, and in this continual bath of life-giving rays we very truly 'live and move and have our being.'

"Our essential diet of rays is fresh as well as potent. Because of the almost inconceivable speed of light and heat waves 186,000 miles per second),' the sunbeam which strikes you this instant left its far-away source only eight minutes ago.

Plants Need Rays.

"It is not only by warming us directly and by keeping our seas and streams from being eternally frozen that the sun's rays benefit us. Every good thing that we have, except some of the minerals and ores, can be traced to their beneficent work. The soil upon which our plants live has been washed from the original sheer less lump of ash and stone by the rain which the sun's rays lifted from the seas and cast down on the land.

"Plants which grow in the soil can themselves live only when bathed by sunshine. Plants not only exist because of heat and light waves from the sun, but, fortunately for mankind and the animals, they contrived millions of years ago an ingenious trap for extra energy from the rays which they store away. This trap is a mysterious substance called chlorophyll, the green coloring matter in all soil-growing plant leaves. When the rays strike chlorophyll they manufacture cellulose, starch, and sugars—and on these products the life of the animal world is built. Every plant, then, is in reality a separate factory, operated by waves of energy from a 'power house,' 93,000,000 miles away, through its chlorophyll 'motor.'

Each Plant a Factory.

"These factories turn out directly various commodities that man must have: vegetables, fruits, and nuts that make up a large part of our diet; cotton, flax and other fibers which contribute largely to our clothing and draperies; the woods which help to build our houses and implements; and many other substances which are necessary in our daily life. Indirectly these 'factories' supply our remaining food and clothing; for our food animals produce our meat from a vegetable diet, and so, too, our wool and silk mohair are the indirect products of the ray-built vegetable world.

"It is not only the rays of the present that contribute to our well being. Sunbeams that millions of years ago built tropical vegetation which was fossilized into coal today warm our houses and turn the wheels of our factories. The rays that left the sun weeks or months or at most years ago are helping us in still another way. They evaporated water from the sea which fell as rain and was stored up behind dams. When this imprisoned water is made to turn dynamos the electricity that comes to us over wires to light our homes and toast our bread is only the beneficent sunbeam in another form.

Heat and Radio Waves.

'How we turn heat rays to account is well known. They fly from our radiators to make our homes livable in winter; they cook our food; they produce steam for many of our powerhouses; and in numerous other ways they are harnessed for man's benefit.

"Within recent years we have harnessed another group of waves which before this time, since the beginning of the world, went unused by man. These are the Hertzian or radio waves which now all over the world are carrying their burden of music and the spoken word, and even are transferring photographs. Inventors are seeking to place other burdens on the strong young shoulders of the radio waves and assert that it is only a question of time until they will carry motion pictures and even power which may turn wheels far from the source of energy.

Unshackling the Ultra-Violet.

"Even the little known waves, shorter than those of light, are now doing their bit to push man's civilization forward. The ultra-violet ray has for many years played an important part in photography. Now its value in improving human and animal health is being recognized. Ordinary window glass does not permit ultra-violet rays to pass through; so that in reality our windows, made to admit light and warmth, are barriers against one of Nature's chief life-giving forces. Special glasses which permit ultra-violet rays to pass are coming into wider use, especially in hospitals where patients may thus be given the benefit of one more force to help them to health.

"Since its discovery a generation ago, the X-ray has performed innumerable services, chiefly in permitting photographs to be taken of flesh-covered bones and internal organs, and in the direct treatment of certain diseased conditions. But the X-ray is so potent that it can bring harm as well as good, causing tissues to wither away or become infected when exposed too long to the powerful waves. Man has learned to tame this ray, however, and is even finding new uses for it as is indicated by recent experiments which show that seeds exposed to X-rays produce greater yields than those untreated.

Tiniest Ray Most Penetrating.

"One of the rays to become known most recently is the Gamma-ray thrown off by radium. This is in reality a super-X-ray and has found its greatest field in carrying farther the work of its close relative.

"The most mysterious of the rays is that which has come to light within the last year or so, the Milliken or Cosmic ray, which is the ultimate at the present time in vibratory rate and shortness. It is estimated that there are 635 trillion of these rays to the inch. So far, man does not know the origin of these infinitesimally small rays nor has he been able to utilize them. Apparently they do not come from the sun, because they reach the night side of the world as well as the day side. One theory is that they are given off by far away nebulae—solar systems in the making. They penetrate so deeply when they strike that it requires eight feet of solid lead to stop them. The boldest hypothesis in regard to their effects is that the life of every animate cell depends upon its bombardment by these tiny waves from the heavens, and it even has been suggested that life itself was originated by them."

Berlin Rubberneck Bus Small Crystal Palace

Berlin.—It is a small percentage of American travelers who visit Berlin in winter, but for those who do and for such other tourists as put in an appearance here during the cold season, the travel agencies have provided the maximum of sightseeing comforts.

The latest type of "rubberneck" busses which whirl visitors about the streets of old and new Berlin and out to Potsdam, are veritable little crystal palaces, glassed in all around their heated, plush-seated interiors, with window settings so thin that a virtually clear, unobstructed vision is afforded every occupant.

As Berlin architecture is not of the skyscraping type, the roofs are not wholly of glass, as would befit similar vehicles in American cities whose most striking features are their towering buildings; but nevertheless, the outer sections of the overhead superstructure on these busses are left transparent, giving an upward slant to the vision that admits of the topmost limits of any building within the Berlin area being easily taken in by the traveler.

Berlin's Famous Walk

Unter den Linden was begun in the reign of Frederick William (1640 1688), the founder of the Prussian state. The forest once on the site of the avenue was removed and a double row of linden trees was planted, on each side of which gradually sprang up the modern street.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Distinction In Body Design—In Straight Eight Performance

Elegance of performance, elegance of design, elegance of appointment—

On these three potent points is based the new Hupmobile reputation which is putting this magnificent straight-eight into the best homes of the country in competition with the finest and most costly motor car productions.

During the last two years, Hupmobile has attained a new social status; it has become the type, and the car, preferred above other types and other cars in the higher price ranges.

The swing to the Hupmobile Eight is positive and conclusive. It is taking on the proportions of a landslide.

Because Hupmobile has proved that its Eight reaches the very apex of superfine performance—and that means in agility, in smoothness, in delightful ease.

Because Hupmobile has proved that an eight can be simple and sane and reliable; that it can be frugal instead of wasteful.

Your admiration for this Eight is first captured by its beautiful color harmonies, by the refinement of its body designs; by its thoroughbred appearance.

Once you take it out on the road—once you taste the delight of its matchless straight eight performance and its roomy luxury—you are won forever to the straight eight and to this Hupmobile above all cars.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 3, 1927.

The city family with an income of $3,000 has no larger purchasing power than the farm family with a cash income of $1,800, the Department of Agriculture finds in a recent survey. Living expenses of 2,886 typical farm families were studied, these expenses averaged about $1,600 which included $684 worth of goods raised on the farm.

HANDSHAKING AND "GERMS".

The editor of the Ohio Health News likes the Chinese custom of shaking hands with themselves instead of with the friends they meet, and recommends its adoption by the American people because "the warm, moist surface of the hand forms a very favorable resting place for bacteria while waiting for transfer to our friends." He remarks upon "the strange but nearly universal thing" that "people cough or sneeze into or upon their right hands, the ones with which they shake hands." Do they, indeed? We have never happened to notice this truly "strange thing" and are of the opinion that there is likely to be some lively skepticism as to whether it is as "nearly universal" as claimed.

We may admit with this writer that American handshaking is "a means of conveying disease", and even that "under ordinary conditions the human hand is a culture-bed of germs," which are "liable to be transferred" by handshaking, without following him when he recommends, as a measure of safety, that we adopt the Chinese custom in order to keep the germs "at home." Even if we grant the extent of the danger claimed, would it not be better on the whole, because equally safe and far less ridiculous, not to shake at all? It rather looks as if this health magazine, after some few repetitions of all it had to say, has run out of "copy" and is engaged in an anxious search for something to write about, its readers in consequence being provided with not a little unconscious humor.

CENTRALIZATION.

Those who have but a hazy idea of what centralization in the Federal branch of our dual system of government is, and why its great and continuing expansion is to be deplored, may find a useful discussion of the matter in an article entitled "The Vanishing Republic of Our Fathers" contributed by a retiring Senator to the New York Times magazine of February 27. Senator Oscar W. Underwood went to Congress thirty years ago, "before the days of imperialism"—before the McKinley administration, the Spanish-American war, and our acquisition of a thousand islands on the other side of the world which have since of necessity been governed "imperially," and as a result of which we passed through "the gateway to international ambition and centralized government at Washington."

But this new "imperialism" was only in part responsible for the great strides in Federal centralization which Senator Underwood has witnessed during thirty years. What has made State rights a memory rather than a fact and rendered our American commonwealths little more important than mere geographical subdivisions, what has weakened the powers of Congress itself and caused Washington bureaucracy to reach a long governing arm throughout the whole country, "absorbing State control of our people and in many respects establishing despotic management of their lives and property," is the rapid extension of government through commissions appointed by the Chief Executive. "The Congress," says Mr. Underwood, "has surrendered the legislative powers delegated to it by the Constitution to boards and commissions appointed by the President and dominated by him." Originally we had "a government of law, made and controlled by representatives of the people"; now we have "a government controlled and regulated by commissions," in the choice of which Congress has no part—"many boards, commissions and bureaus established within the last 36 years to exercise the power granted by the Constitution to Congress." It is not argued that no good has come from all this, or that it is not in response to urgent demand from a part of the people.

If the people like and want such centralization of power it is useless to protest, but it must be admitted that such conditions are out of harmony with both our long practice and our fundamental principles, and that local self-government or home rule has to a large extent been sacrificed. And the loss of such freedom is not the only lamentable consequence.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

WEIGHT, AGE, AND PHYSIQUE.

The Army Medical Service get a real opportunity of sizing up the physiques of thousands of apparently able bodied men.

The height and weight are the first two measurements taken, and the weight should be in a certain proportion to the height.

However we have come to recognize different types of physiques. There is the long body and the short legs, the short body and the long legs, and the body and legs that are nearly equal.

However the height of the body sitting is now being used with which to compare the weight and this gives a better idea of the relationship of weight to height.

These army doctors, and the doctors of the insurance companies, agree that in young folks it is better to find five to ten pounds overweight, than five to ten pounds underweight. This extra poundage in young folks is a good sign, showing that there is a little "reserve" in weight for sickness or other emergency.

However in older persons, this extra weight is not an asset but a liability, as statistics show that the overweight older folks are poorer risks, both in the army, or as policy holders in the insurance companies.

In fact a few pounds underweight, if this underweight is not due to disease or indigestion, is an advantage.

These examiners are a little afraid of the individual with a large abdomen. If his abdomen is as large as the chest at rest, then he is not considered a good risk. They say that in general, "the longer the belt the shorter the life."

I have heard of a book called "girth control", and although I haven't read it, I would judge that the author is hitting out at this great mistake civilization is making, in permitting oneself to get many pounds overweight.

So take a look at yourself, and after finding out your type of physique, that is long body and short legs, a short body and long legs, or something approaching either of these types, compare your height and weight with the insurance tables, and get your weight right. Remember if young, a few pounds overweight is an asset. If old, a few pounds overweight is a liability.

Disobedience Brought Victory

THE disobedience of an army once relieved Europe from a threatened invasion by the Turks who had conquered the Eastern Roman empire, taking Constantinople.

The capital of the Eastern empire fell into the hands of the Turks in 1453 and two years later Mahomet II was hammering at the walls of Belgrade, bent on extending his conquests throughout Europe. The pope and John Capistrano, papal legate and general of the Capuchins, preached a crusade to Europe, but without success. Feudal noblemen prayed and the people slaughtered Jews, it being the naive custom to blame all misfortune on this unhappy race, but armies to fight the Turks were lacking.

At length Capistrano, traveling through Germany and preaching war, gained a few thousand of peasant followers. They were armed only with flails and pitchforks but they were ready to die for Christianity. Capistrano bravely led his mob to join John Hunyades and the little Hungarian army, who were planning to relieve the besieged army in Belgrade.

The motley army floated in boats down the Danube, attacked and dispersed the Turkish fleet and entered the beleaguered city. Hunyades, in command, saw little hope of making effective soldiers out of Capistrano's peasants. He sternly forbade an attack upon the Turks, hoping to make a successful resistance within the walls of Belgrade. Artillery of the enemy battered down these walls in time, but the inhabitants of the city had built a secondary line of defense. Encountering the new wall the Turks were discouraged. At this time, the fanatic followers of Capistrano could no longer be restrained. Despite Hunyades' commands and his promise of death to any who disobeyed, they burst over the walls and charged the enemy.

The first intrenchment was taken by storm, then a second and a third. The Turkish host of 160,000 was soon in great disorder. Hunyades, perceiving the success that disobedience to his orders had brought, joined the attack with his cavalry and Mahomet II was beaten. His power was so badly crippled, in fact, that it was many years before he could take the field again.

yes-Everyone says "Nothing like it in the World"

In appearance and value, as well as performance, Hudson is the most talked of car of the year. Everyone is saying there is "nothing like it in the world".

At the automobile shows, in dealers' salesrooms, and wherever automobiles are talked about, the release of the Super-Six principle to full capacity is of outstanding interest.

The Super-Six has the smoothness of an electric motor. Four years' development led to full release of its capacity in power, economy and safety. It led to a new chassis capable of safely using the wide range and long life of the motor. New driving delights resulted. From the effortless smoothness with which the Super-Six whisks you into motion, to the carefree way in which you may make any trip from a journey down-town to a run across the continent, there remains throughout the zest of driving that is possible only to its elastic and smooth flow of power.

Your Hudson Super-Six never exceeds itself. It always has reserve power for the approaching hill or for greater speed. And its four-wheel brakes with the flexibility of the motor permit a flashing nimbleness you will like. The joy of driving is not dulled through weariness. You set your speed with full knowledge that you may go faster if need be or may stop suddenly with perfect ease and safety. There is restful security in the way the Hudson Super-Six clings to the road, and in the ease and quietness of its action.

And there is a car in its seven new body types that meets any desire for beauty, comfort and luxury.

MARCH A DANGEROUS MONTH

Fortify Your System Against Colds Take Father John's Medicine Now.

March is the most dangerous month of the year because the change of season is more than a good many systems can stand. Too often it is true that, the sick "last only till spring." But, if the system is fortified if the impurities are driven from the blood, and the nerve tissues fed with wholesome and strength-giving food medicine, there is no danger in the change of seasons. Father John's Medicine is invaluable as a tonic in the spring. It strengthens the system and drives out the poisonous waste matter—builds up the body. It is this power that has made it so successful in the treatment of colds and throat troubles. No alcohol or harmful drugs. Over 70 years of health victory.

DOCTORS AGREED

The world's greatest doctors agree that the best way to treat a cold is to use just such remedies as are combined in Father John's Medicine, free from drugs and alcohol. Seventy years' success.

A MOTHER'S STORY

Mrs. Arthur Marshall, Chicopee, Mass., writes: "Father John's Medicine has been used in our family for more than twenty years as a remedy for colds and whooping cough. I always recommend it."

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE CONFERENCE AT HIGH SCHOOL

Next Monday and Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. there will be held at the Kingston High School an exhibition absolutely unique in character. It will be called a "Vocational Guidance Conference Exhibition," and under the supervision of the Y. W. C. A. which is carrying on the Vocational Guidance work at the school, there will be shown school and college material from nineteen such institutions in New York state and New England, including colleges, conservatories and universities. Members of the Kingston College Women's Club will be present to explain features of the exhibit and answer questions, and it is hoped that the exhibit may be opened to the general public one evening. There will be shown pictures, catalogues, year books, student publications, etc., and the matter of scholarships will be fully explained by Prof. B. C. Van Ingen, principal of the high school, chairman of the Conference, who will give a talk on what scholarships will be available, and how a girl must go about it to secure such scholarship.

"BOOK BALL" GIVEN BY GRADE GIRL RESERVES

On Tuesday afternoon after school the Grade School Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A. gave a "Book Ball" at the Y. W. gym, that proved to be one of the most interesting and well-done things that the Girl Reserves have ever put over in Kingston. There were some 120 mothers and friends of the girls present as a thoroughly appreciative audience.

The girls had worked hard and understandingly in the preparation of this affair, being costumed according as their parts were called for, and also being letter perfect in the playing of those parts.

School No. 8 gave, very realistically, the school scene from "Anne of Green Gables," with all of the characters present, and very much alive.

School No. 6 gave the opening scene in "Little Women," so well, that the audience were sure they saw, Jo, Beth, Meg and Amy, and Mrs. Marsh, in the very homey room described so vividly by Louisa M. Alcott.

Peter Pan was the book chosen by Schools No. 5 and 2, and there were the Indians, the Lost Boys, John Michael, etc., and of course Peter Pan and Wendie, all just as everyone knew they were. In addition to the really fine presentation of these books by the younger school girls, the fine spirit shown at the rehearsals and the girls' appreciation of the "true inwardness" of the books chosen was a splendid thing in itself.

CHURCH SERVICES SUNDAY AT EDDYVILLE AND RIFTON.

Eddyville Sunday school, 10 a. m. Preaching, 2 p. m. Rifton Sunday school, 10 a. m. Preaching, 11 a. m. The Rev. Charles A. Holla, D. D., of New York city will preach at both churches. The pastor, the Rev. Robert B. Guice, will also be present and assist in both churches.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, March 3.—Miss Daisy Myers called on Miss Ethel Shurter Sunday afternoon.

Lester Shultis of Wittenberg was in this place on Sunday.

W. G. Moore and daughter, Mrs. Genevieve McLean, were automobiling on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Alsdorf of Walden passed through here Sunday.

Services at the church on Sunday night were not largely attended. Bad roads were the excuse.

All are glad to hear that Mr. Steen is getting better.

Mrs. J. H. Bevier, who has been spending some time in Wittenberg, has returned to her home.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

After a very poor start Wednesday evening, in which weakness and sputtering interference from local leaks combined to make good reception impossible, there was very sudden improvement at about 9 o'clock, with WLS, WRC, WEAF, KDKA, WSM, WKAR, WABC, WLW, WSAI, WBZ and WGY as the star performers. Later WTAM, WIP and WJR joined in. An exception to the early weakness was WLS which at 6:45 was going strong.

The thing that radio really needs to bring an end to all its ills is about 300 additional broadcasting stations, well distributed. Then it will always be possible to tune in a fine strong squeal, and nothing else, at all points on the dial. Everybody will be treated alike. Nobody will pick up anything but a squeal and we will have perfect equality and that perfect "freedom of the air" that those whose fear of "monopoly of the air" so greatly yearn for.

WITTENBERG.

Wittenberg, March 3.—Miss Dorothy Short, who is ill with scarlet fever, is improving under the care of Dr. M. B. Downer.

Mrs. Everett Cashdollar attended the Epworth League conference held at Port Ewen Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shultis and son, Stanley, spent Sunday with Mr. Shultis's parents at Shandaken.

Mrs. Aaron Vande Bogart spent Wednesday with Mrs. Watson Riseley.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Short attended the supper at Woodstock M. E. Hall Tuesday evening, February 22. Both report a fine time.

A very nice program was given by the children of the public school on Tuesday afternoon, February 22, in honor of Washington's birthday. A new flag was dedicated to the school and all those who attended report the entertainment very suitable to the occasion.

Miss Hilda Short, who is a student nurse in Brooklyn M. E. Hospital, spent Saturday and Sunday of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Short.

Mr. and Mrs. George Zelie and son of Kingston spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Short.

E. S. Irish has tapped his sap bush and is busily engaged in making maple syrup.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CRICKETS' CONCERT

"You know," said Daddy, "the crickets are very fond of music and especially so of their own powers.

"They have opera evenings and concert evenings, and they invite all the other bugs and insects they know to come and listen to them.

"One evening they planned they would give an exceptionally brilliant concert.

"There were to be solos, duets, trios, quartettes, and choruses.

"They picked out a nice spot where the grass was very soft and green—just like velvet under their feet—and all around were a lot of little bushes and flowers, for the crickets love sweet-smelling blossoms.

"But toward evening they wondered where they would get their light from.

"Finally they went to Grandfather Cricket to ask his advice.

"Grandpa Cricket thought for awhile, then said:

"'Well, I guess we'll have to ask Mr. Lightning Bug and all of his family.'

"Now, the crickets were mad at the lightning bugs and had not invited them, but they realized they should not be mad with them.

"Besides they knew they would like to have them to make light for their evening party!

"So the lightning bugs were invited, and they felt very proud of the invitation, for they had always heard about the crickets' concerts and had longed to go.

"The katydids also gave concerts, and they had planned, unknown to the crickets, to have a rival concert and to invite the lightning bugs so as to have a finer performance.

"But wasn't Grandpa Cricket wise to see that the lightning bugs must be invited to the crickets' concert?

"When the katydids went to invite the lightning bugs they had already been invited by the crickets and were getting themselves ready so as to look their best.

They Went to Grandfather Cricket.

"This annoyed the katydids, so that they resolved they would make the crickets suffer for it.

"At last the time came for the concert, and all the bugs filed in.

"The grasshoppers had all the boxes, and the June bugs sat in the front row in their little coats of green.

"The lightning bugs sat in the back, which threw a wonderful light on the stage, as the crickets had planned, and the performance began.

"But, alas, each time they began to sing, the katydids, who were giving their concert next to them, would commence, too, and would drown the voices of the crickets, as their voices are so much harsher.

"The crickets called in Policeman Spider, and each time the katydids began to sing Policeman Spider would give them a little nip on their long, green legs, which stung them so they had to stop, and they gave up in despair.

"So the crickets, after all, had a most successful concert, and all the bugs enjoyed it so much that they took season tickets before leaving, and the crickets were very proud of themselves."

Would Read in Peace

Dorothy's daddy is exceedingly impatient of interruptions when reading his morning paper and freely expresses his displeasure at unnecessary noise. Last Sunday Dorothy was given the "funnies," as usual, and seated herself on her little chair, prepared to follow Skeezix's adventures, pictorially. At this moment, however, baby brother decided to register his displeasure at things in general and his shrieks rent the air. Dorothy threw aside her paper and said disgustedly, "I should think brewver could keep still long enough to let me read my Sunday paper in peace."

SONS OF PREACHERS NOT "BLACK SHEEP"

Figures Show Most of Them "Make Good."

A society of Methodist preachers' sons has been formed to combat the old myth that preachers' sons are bad and never amount to much. Just how this myth originated is not known, but probably at a very remote time some minister's son, whom everybody looked to as a model for the other boys of the village, so departed from the path of virtue as to shock the entire community and to cast a shadow of suspicion on the offspring of every other parson through succeeding ages. At any rate, the idea has long prevailed that preachers' sons are a bad lot—a conviction that exemplary conduct could not entirely erase.

The names of some of the eminent men who are officers of this organization constitute positive proof that not all clergymen's sons are scapegraces. Melville E. Stone, founder of the Associated Press, is one of its vice presidents, the other vice presidents being Paul H. Helms, president of the General Baking corporation, and Emory R. Buckner, federal district attorney of New York. Fletcher H. Montgomery of New York is president. But, some may protest, these may be the only preachers' sons among many thousands who ever made a name for themselves—a few white sheep among a vast herd of black sheep. How about the remainder of parsons' progeny?

"Who's Who" supplies ample data with which the newly formed organization might explode the myth, not only as it applies to the sons of Methodist ministers, but to the sons of clergymen of other denominations. All persons sketched in the 1922-23 edition of this reference work of eminent men were asked to indicate the occupation of their fathers. It was found that no less than 2,695, or 11 per cent, were preachers' sons. Still others mentioned that their father combined preaching with some other occupation. The census for the year 1870, the year nearest the birth of these notables, shows that clergymen comprised less than one-half of 1 per cent of all men. Upon this basis, it is calculated that clergymen fathered twenty-eight times the average number of notables, one Protestant minister in each fifteen having a child whose name later appeared in "Who's Who." In the same year business and professional men fathered seven and sixteen times, respectively, the average number of notables, or the number that might have been expected from their portion of the total population, while farmers fathered less than their proportionate share, and unskilled laborers much less than farmers. Still more impressive is the statement that "Protestant clergymen about 1870 contributed in proportion to their numbers about 2,400 times as many eminent persons as did unskilled laborers, thirty-five times as many as did farmers, four times as many as business men and over twice as many as the average of other professional men."

Europe's Mystery Man

The so-called "Mystery Man of Europe," Sir Basil Zaharoff, is spending his thirtieth winter at Monte Carlo enjoying his sunny outlook over the Mediterranean from his suite in the Hotel de Paris. But he still has his eye over the world and keeps well posted. He says that he always did business for fun and that since the departure of his beloved wife last spring he does not find so much fun or play in business.

What the papers say does not concern him, for his secretaries still have directions, as always, to bring him no clippings concerning himself. It is about other people—France, England, the United States, and other nations—that he desires to be informed.—Wall Street Journal.

Sometimes a man will spend more on his fad than his family.

The City of Kingston Hospital invites bids for the construction of a four-story Nurses' Dormitory building to be erected at Kingston, New York.

The check of the bidder to whom a contract may be offered will be held until he furnishes the required surety bond for a sum equal to the amount of the contract price and executes the contract. In case the bidder to whom the contract may be offered fails to furnish the required surety bond or fails to sign the contract he shall forfeit the amount represented by the certified check to the City of Kingston Hospital.

The Board of Managers of the City of Kingston Hospital reserves the right to reject any or all proposals, and to accept any which it deems to be to the best interest of the Hospital.

The contractor to whom a contract may be offered must furnish satisfactory evidence to the Board of Managers of his financial ability to carry on the work as contemplated in the plans and specifications and of his experience in the performance of similar construction.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(© 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Do not be troubled because you have not great virtues. God made a million spears of grass where He made one tree. The earth is fringed and carpeted, not with forests but with grasses. Only have enough little virtues and common fidelities and you need not mourn because you are neither a hero nor a saint.—Henry Ward Beecher.

FRESH VEGETABLES

It is surprising how soon one will be satisfied with meat but once a week, after trying to serve vegetables and other foods to take its place.

Too much meat is unquestionably bad for the health, but a little occasionally is better than a restricted diet of vegetables unless under the doctor's orders.

Cabbage is such a wholesome vegetable and one may serve it in such a way that it is sufficiently nourishing for a main dish

Take a small hard head of cabbage and drop it into boiling water slightly salted to cook until tender. Drain and place on a hot chop plate. Prepare a rich white sauce, adding just at the last a cupful of finely chopped rich cheese. Stir until well dissolved in the sauce, then pour over the cabbage, which has been cut into pie-shaped pieces

Another nice way to serve cabbage is with milk. Cook until tender, dress with butter after being well drained and add enough rich milk and a few crackers well crumbled Stir until well seasoned and serve hot. This is called ladies' cabbage.

Stewed Lettuce.—As the lettuce gets old and slightly tough, cook it in a little water uncovered Dress with butter, salt and pepper and serve it with vinegar as greens.

Cucumbers are very palatable cooked and served with a drawn butter sauce, adding a little onion juice for flavor

The tomato is delicious sliced when very ripe and served with cream as one does peaches. Sliced rather thick and fried they are liked by many Serve as a garnish to a platter of meat.

Onions With Cheese Sauce.—Cook onions until tender, then place them in a baking dish with a layer of rich white sauce and a layer of good cheese finely cut. Bake covered with buttered crumbs and serve hot

A Youthful Sports Model Coat Made of Muskrat Pelts and a Cravat Collar of Baby Leopard Worn With a Golden Brown Pony Coat.

Novelties Shown in New Fur Coats

Pony, Goat Skins in Many Colors—Combine Fur and Leather.

The sharp days of autumn are always a startling reminder that furs and fur wraps are necessary to comfort. This season fur is the answer to the demand for sports wraps, illustrated in the smart toilettes that are worn at the football games Something of elegance is expected this season, something rather more luxurious than the rough-and-ready type, the tweeds and homespuns and other stuffs of former days. In designing the coat to serve for both fashion and comfort, couturiers have decided upon fur, adding one more to the increasing number of fur coats that every woman now has or would like to have. At all the resorts this year, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times, fur coats have been seen early, and in town are being worn in the place of the first cloth coats that usually make their appearance.

For the first time in several seasons many novelties are shown in fur coats. These are fewer in the wraps for afternoon and evening dress than in the sports style and the coat that will serve for general utility. The "dressy" fur is still sable, mink and ermine, while some of the humbler skins have come to be regarded as suitable for handsome coats. The names alone are intriguing, dignifying a number of creatures of otherwise humble status. With most of these the glorified title is met with a corresponding rise in cost, and the simplest sort of fur coat represents a considerable investment. In the search for something new, stylists have gone far afield for some of the furs that are now in vogue and have found new ways of treatment for old favorites.

The American fur coat is the most satisfactory of all. One has only to shop in Paris at this season of the year to appreciate the excellent quality and beauty of the furs and fur coats we have this side of the water, finer in quality and in greater variety this season than have ever been shown. Literally, the more plebeian the ancestry of the pelt the more swagger the sports coat made from it. Of these, pony is quite the rage and is to be had in several attractive shades as well as in black. The present manner of handling pony skin makes it as flexible as cloth, and tailors are using it in much the same way, taking unprecedented liberties with distinct success.

Ponyskin of Fine Grain.

Ponyskin coats of this season's style are of fine grain, supple, and have a charming luster with markings that have the effect of moire antique. Some are almost as fine as broadtail, with a difference that only a connoisseur could discover. This is more marked in black than in the colored pony skin and gives it a particularly rich appearance. In color, all of the brown shades are fashionable. The tints are new, entirely different from those of last year—wall-flower brown, like that in cloth and velvet; cocoa, golden brown, beige and wood brown.

Most of the pony coats are cut absolutely straight, with no diversion whatever from the strictly tailored model, and some have pockets and wide cuffs. Almost all have collars and sometimes cuffs of contrasting fur, usually fox in a shade to blend with that of the coat In less expensive coats imitation fur is shown, rabbit, nutria, raccoon and fox dyed to match or to harmonize Caracul is still considered fashionable, but in color far more than in black. Luxurious browns in the golden shade, beige and ivory are shown in some of the latest models in both the straight-tailored coat and the semiwrap, after the dolman idea known as the "barrel" that is so comfortable for motoring and the autumn games

A wrap of this sort is generously cut and may be wound well around the body for extra protection on cold days A particularly swagger fur sports coat of beige pony skin is made after the straight coat model and is given additional importance with high collar, wide cuffs and a border knee-depth around the bottom of beaver, on which the long "guard" hair is left, an original treatment.

One of the chic styles is the combination of fur and leather This is particularly successful in ponyskin. Some charming models done in this way are shown by prominent modistes. One, designed for a debutante, is made of light taupe pony, cut in box coat fashion, hip length, and bound with blue kidskin. The lining of this jolly little coat is blue kasha, matching to the shade of the leather, giving extra warmth to the ponyskin. A golden tan pony coat, cut full length and severely tailored, is bound with bright green leather, which appears in bands about the cuffs and collar and in a belt that draws the fullness in slightly about the hips.

A stunning fur among the novelties is Himalaya. This is shown in a New York shop in a youthful model of gray that is almost gun metal, with collar and cuffs of Chinese civet, decorative and becoming.

Leopard skin is shown in some of the most exclusive styles of sports coats. Baby leopard is considered smart for entire coats, also for collar and cuffs, band trimming, and separate scarf with a coat of other fur, or of cloth. A fur of subtle texture and color is Spanish panther, as supple as chiffon velvet, in soft, creamy shades of beige, cafe-au-lait and ivory, varying slightly. A charming sports coat of this fur has a generous collar of the same, and is lined with heavy crepe printed in a modernistic pattern of graceful gazelles in bright colors on an ivory ground. One Spanish panther coat has a deep shawl collar and cuffs of beige fox, and is trimmed around the bottom with a band of the fox, set well above the edge of the hem.

Muskrat, although not new, is used this season for some of the latest sports coat, and is invariably trimmed with another fur, often fox, which is still much in vogue. This fur is shown in a number of attractive styles.

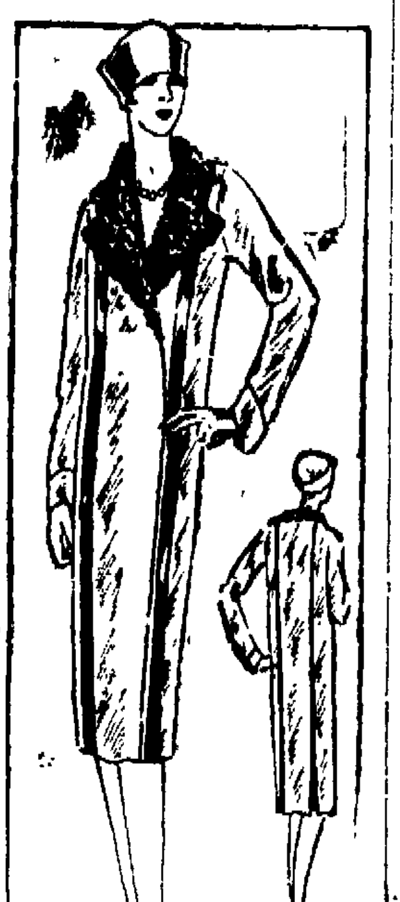
Next to the all-fur sports coat is one of cloth, or of leather, lined with fur. This style of coat is highly desirable for storm and general wear. The leather is fine-grained and soft and is dyed in many lovely shades. A coat that is the last word in luxury is one of tan leather lined with sealskin and having collar, cuffs and large side pockets of seal. A particularly smart coat is a belted model of dark green dull leather, lined with broken fur, which forms the collar and large lapels, cuffs, pockets and forms a narrow border all about the edge of the coat.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

TRAVELERS AGAIN SHOW A STRONG PREFERENCE FOR NAVY—A COAT STRAPPED IN LEATHER REGISTERS CHIC.

On the Mediterranean, en route to Naples.—The comfort of a leather coat for traveling is something that America seems to have overlooked

In Europe, many well-dressed travelers wear them, and on board the palatial steamer bearing us from the ancient city of Alexandria to Naples there are several. One is particularly worthy of description, because it is only partly of leather. The coat really is a flag-blue velour, over the entire surface of which are half-inch straps of matching leather set on in a sort of Greek key design. So nearly completely does the design cover the cloth that one has an impression of a coat of striped leather It has the advantage over a leather coat of being more supple



Bands of Red Leather Are Used as Stripe Decoration on the Front and Inverted Pleats at the Back of a Gray Tweed Coat, Collared in Black and Gray Krimmer.

That navy and brighter blues have become fashionable again, one has only to look about this smartly-peopled ship to be convinced, for its passengers are from Paris, Rome, London, and both North and South America.

There is a tendency, as before reported, to use brown fox, nutria, or beaver on blue A double-faced Oxford cloth coat, the reverse side being gray, black, and white plaid, has a krimmer collar. This is worn by an American girl in school in Paris who dresses exceedingly well. (Copyright, 1927, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York.)

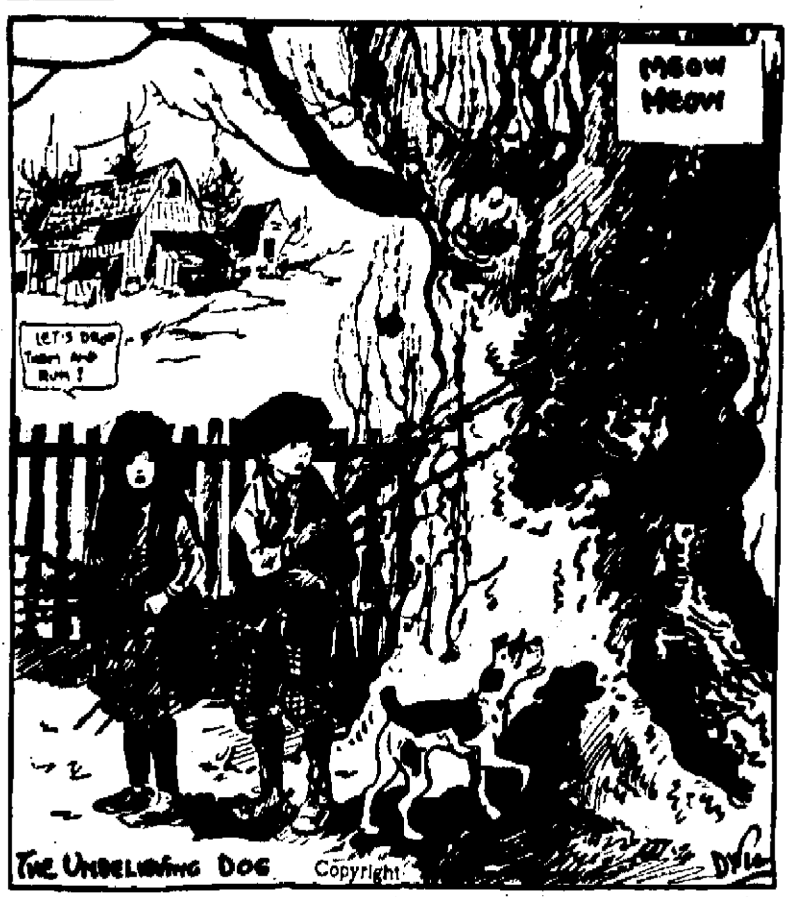
SCHOOL DAYS



Mother's Cook Book

There is a general agreement, except perhaps on the part of a few wayward ascetics, not only that health is a blessing; but that to the want of it may safely be ascribed no inconsiderable part of our present ethical and social problems.—James Harvey Robinson.

GOOD THINGS WE ENJOY

TO THE few minced pieces of leftover chicken add a little veal with a bone or two, stew and when well cooked drop in the following dumplings:

Dumplings.

Take one cupful of fresh butter milk, sift one cupful of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, add one beaten egg, some salt, mix well and drop from a teaspoon into the stew. Cook tightly covered for eight minutes, then serve at once.

Blackstone Dressing.

Mix four tablespoonfuls each of mayonnaise dressing and whipped cream, two tablespoonfuls of chili sauce, two of tomato catsup and two of vinegar. Roquefort cheese may be added if desired.

Marshmallow Salad.

Cut three slices of pineapple in dice, add a dozen quartered marshmallows, one-half cupful of chopped nuts, a cupful of seeded white grapes, the pulp of two oranges. Serve when well mixed with mayonnaise, on lettuce.

Spanish Pepper Salad.

Dissolve half a box of gelatin in half a cupful of cold water, add one-half cupful of vinegar, one-half cupful of sugar, the juice of a lemon and a tablespoonful of salt, with a cupful of boiling water. Mix six canned pimentos with two cupfuls of finely cut celery, one cupful of cut pecan meats. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

Friendship Village Muffins.

Beat two eggs, add four tablespoonfuls of sugar, two of shortening and one cupful of milk with flour to make a thin batter; add one teaspoonful of baking powder and beat well. Bake in muffin pans.

Western Salad.

Chop four hard-cooked eggs, four tablespoonfuls of onion also chopped, four tablespoonfuls of watermelon pickle and cheese chopped. Save out the yolks of two eggs and put through a ricer to garnish the top.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

THE OPENING PRELUDE

OUR fingers are on the keys of a great organ, whose voice as yet is unknown to any other ears but our own.

A strange fear takes hold of us as we are about to play the introductory prelude, for which the world has been waiting since we were children, trudging to and from school with our little packs of books.

We are our own composers, searching among the crannies of our brain for a suitable theme.

We cannot play from the scores written by others, for that is prohibited by the powers that be—the powers which set us down here on this planet, and over which we have no control.

We must use our own notes, create our own phrases, construct our own periods and weave our own harmonies.

We must exhibit in playing them our touch, our feeling, our force, the fine art of phrasing and all those subtle qualities for which the world has been so long waiting to hear and see and feel.

We press the keys. As we do so, the thought comes to us that our boyhood or girlhood has ceased.

The thought for a moment overwhelms us, but we gather strength and assurance from the swelling music and play on until the prelude dies away.

Then we step down from our stool into the noisier, sterner activities of life, where we shall make sweet harmonies or jarring discords till the end of our day.

It is the tuning point in our career, a change, perchance in the world's thoughts and our own.

We are to play our part now like masters.

We are to make music that shall be an inspiration to those other school boys and girls who have taken our places.

From this day we are to be their torch-bearers.

Our responsibilities weigh heavily upon our shoulders.

Every false note we touch they will hear. They are straining their ears and listening to us just as we listened to others in the days not yet so far away.

They are watching our every movement while we are shaping their lives, giving them vision of the future, stirring their love or hate, imparting courage or cowardice, and making them fit to take their places at the great organ and acquit themselves with greater credit than did their predecessors.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back, Says Dedrick's

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long tome. Any pharmacy can supply you. William F. Dedrick's sells lots of it.

Yankee Training Camp Delighted

New York, March 3 (AP).—Glee over the signing of Babe Ruth, socking outfield king of the New York Yankees, echoed through the training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., today.

While Miller Huggins gave orders to sweep out the royal suite in preparation for the Bam's arrival next Monday, the mite manager paused to give his opinion of it all.

"I'm glad it's all settled," he said with beaming countenance. "If any one deserves big money, it's the Babe. Colonel Ruppert seems satisfied so it's OK with me. I think he'll make the nine."

While cold weather put a damper on training at almost all camps in Florida, the Giants collected much dust on their trousers in sliding drill at Sarasota yesterday. McGraw called a halt then but the boys buried Heinie Muller in a sand pit just for exercise and batted practice balls around until Coach Roger Bresnahan took them away by force.

SCHAEFER'S FIRST INNING IN BILLIARD TOURNEY

Washington, Mar. 3 (AP).—Jack Schaefer, former titleholder, had his first inning today in an attempt to wrest the world's 18.2 balkline billiard from Willie Hoppe of New York, clashing with Felix Grange of France, in his first match of the tournament here.

In the first three matches of the tourney, the two American entrants turned back their foreign opponents, Hoppe in the opening game Tuesday, defeating Kinrey Matsuyama of Japan, and Welker Cochran of California, in the second match yesterday, gaining 400 to 98 victory over the Japanese star. Only one of the foreign invaders has gained a win, Edouard Horemans of Belgium, defeating Grange last night 400 to 199.

England Has Filed Davis Cup Challenge Once More

Great Britain, the only nation which has competed in every tournament for the Davis cup since it was put into competition in 1900, has filed her twenty-second challenge, the United States Lawn Tennis association announced.

America dropped out of one tournament, that of 1919, because of post-war conditions in other countries, but the British resumed where they left off at the beginning of the World war and reached the challenge round against Australia.

In the 21 competitions for the international tennis trophy, the British have been five times triumphant as compared with six victories for Australia and ten for the United States.

A challenge from Cuba, the first in the American zone, was received by the U. S. L. T. A. simultaneously with the one from England.

Flax Production

Under average conditions the harvesting time for flax is about eighty days after planting, though this period may vary from 70 to 100 days, according to the season. Excessively hot and dry weather will shorten the growing period, while cool, damp weather tends to lengthen it.

Sharkey Meets McTigue Tonight

Fighters Are In Perfect Condition and are Both Confident of Winning—Sharkey Ranks 2 to 1 Favorite.

New York, March 3 (AP).—Intensive training in verbs, nouns and adjectives, coupled with daily padded mitten drills, have put Mike McTigue and Jack Sharkey in perfect shape for their 15 round battle at Madison Square Garden tonight. The scrap has been labelled a semi-final in Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament with the winner to meet Jimmy Maloney for the right to face champion Gene Tunney next September.

Fight experts who were 90 per cent wrong in predicting the outcome of the Maloney-Delaney battle, "hedged" almost in the same ratio in picking the winner tonight. Although Sharkey ranked a 2 to 1 favorite in the betting, and in scaling 190 pounds had a weight advantage of approximately 20 pounds on his rival, pickers tossed a flock of "ifs" into their forecasts.

Chief among the troubles besetting the experts is the apparent hypnotic influence of words on both gladiators. Sharkey, they point out, borrowed from Gene Tunney's psychology to the extent of talking himself into a mood almost bordering on contempt for Harry Wills before he whipped the giant negro last fall. Just as Tunney convinced himself that Jack Dempsey could not defeat him at Philadelphia and that he was a "man of destiny," so Sharkey has saturated himself with the conviction that he is the man to strip Tunney of his title next fall.

Daily, almost as a part of his training, the Boston star has discoursed to great length on the humiliations to be suffered tonight by the elderly Irishman. Sharkey is certain that McTigue's best effort cannot carry him more than six rounds.

But as if the Sharkey complex alone were not enough to perplex the most daring critics, McTigue too has suddenly assumed a new personality. Bold Michael, who now admits that his right will knock out any man in the world, has been changed by the words of his manager, Jimmy Johnson, from a purely defensive boxer to a fierce aggressive puncher of astonishing power.

Critics smiled last fall when Mike announced he was convinced he had been all wrong in his style of fighting, that he had discovered a slumbering knockout punch in his right hand and was about to unveil it to the sport world. He went out and knocked out King Solomon, Billy Vladeck, Soldier King, and finally Paul Berlenbach, in four rounds before the metamorphosis became too apparent to overlook.

Ruth's Earnings Will Set Record

Increase Places Babe Ruth Ahead of All Laborers in Sports Except Tunney — Earned $225,000 During 1926.

New York, March 3 (AP).—With a baseball-loving nation able to rest easy today in the knowledge that Babe Ruth will provide home run clouts for spectators for at least three more years, statisticians busied themselves prying into the Yankee slugger's comparative financial standing in his own and other sport fields.

The Babe's annual salary of $70,000 for the next three years is outranked only by Gene Tunney's estimated earnings of $1,000,000 per annum. When the Belting Bam accepted Colonel Ruppert's modification of his $100,000 demand yesterday, however, the figures came far from representing Ruth's yearly earnings.

The Yankee outfielder says he received $75,000 for the moving picture he made in Hollywood recently and he plans several more in the future. Already he has oiled his typewriter to start work on syndicate baseball yarns to appear daily during the coming season. And there seems no diminution of the demand for personal appearances in exhibition games and vaudeville that jumped Ruth's earnings during 1926 to approximately $225,000 inclusive of his $52,000 salary with the Yankees.

This figure, boosted by Colonel Ruppert's grant of an $18,000 increase, puts Ruth ahead of all laborers in the sport marts with the sole exception of Tunney. Other estimated yearly incomes listed are as follows.

Earl Sande, jockey, $100,000; Walter Hagen, golf professional, $75,000, Gertrude Ederle, first woman to swim the English Channel, $75,000; Reggie McNamara, six-day bike racer, $75,000, Tarold "Red" Grange, professional football star, $50,000; Suzanne Lenglen, professional tennis player, $50,000; Jack Hobbs, of Great Britain, world cricket champion, $6,500

Baseball men discount the financial rivalry of Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb in Babe's own sphere. They point that the Georgia Peach's reported salary of $75,000 for a single year with the Philadelphia Athletics has never been confirmed and probably is exaggerated by $15,000. Speaker is expected to draw $60,000 from the Washington Senators. Rogers Hornsby will receive $40,000 from the Giants. Even Commissioner Landis, head of baseball, is overshadowed despite his recent increase from $50,000 to $65,000 a year.

Y. W. BUSINESS GIRLS TOLD ABOUT FRENCH GIRLS

There was an unusually large attendance at the Business Girls' Supper at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday evening, and the usual merry singing, in addition to the excellent supper. Announcement was made by Miss Horton, that next Wednesday evening the members of the Board of Directors would entertain the girls with a truly remarkable show, entitled "Famous Women by Famous Actresses." No doubt there will be a record attendance.

At the two following meetings the girls will be addressed by Mrs. Aubrey of Poughkeepsie, whose husband is Professor of Bible at Vassar. Mrs. Aubrey has been a Y. W. Business Girls' secretary, and has also had much other Y. W. experience and is sure to be a real favorite with all girls who attend.

Wednesday evening those present were so fortunate as to listen to one of the most interesting talks ever given at the Wednesday evening suppers. The speaker was Miss McCleary, who talked to the girls on "The Industrial Girls of France," where she did Y. W. C. A. work directly following the war.

She found the girls of Paris, that playground of the world, almost entirely different from the French girls of the Provinces, who were very, very thrifty; very, very gay; who worked and played very hard; and—if one could understand such a paradox—who were the very gayest and yet most serious-minded girls the speaker had ever met.

Miss McCleary told how the world war and the Y. W. C. A. had absolutely changed industrial conditions in France, especially for the girls.

What she told of her life at a vacation house at Brittany was exceedingly full of interest, as was her account of the art knowledge and interest of the French girls who had grown up with great pictures and painters; great music, great literature, and who also knew a surprising amount about our arts and literature.

After closing her talk with the reading of the closing verse of Kipling's poem on "France," the girls plied Miss McCleary with questions and were sorry when going-home time came.

rbor Day, Bird Day Designated

Catskill Mountain Region, State ommissioner of Education [illegible] ay 6 for Arbor Day—Bird Day April 8.

a proclamation made public to- Dr. Frank P. Graves, Commis- er of Education, designated the s to be observed as Arbor Day in ous sections of the state.

he date for the observance of Day has been fixed for April 8. he proclamation of Commissioner es follows:

accordance with the provisions aw requiring the Commissioner ducation to designate the day to observed as Arbor Day in this e, the dates of April 22nd, April and May 6th are hereby named. al authorities will be governed by itions of weather and climate in communities in determining ch of these dates shall be used. general, however, it is suggested Arbor Day be observed on April in the southeastern part of the e, on May 6th in the northern of the state and the Catskill on, and on April 29th in the rest he state.

carrying out the provisions of law regarding the observance of r Day, it is hoped that all schools participate so heartily that all citizens of the state will be inter- d in the planting and preserving trees. Nature has indeed been erous to the Empire state and it the trees and forests with which has blessed us that we owe much our healthful climate and our tiful scenery. These natural antages, however, threaten to dis- ear, unless children in the schools citizens generally appreciate the e of trees and take active steps overcome the devastation caused abuse and lack of care. It is a wise provision of the statute, therefore, that sets aside one day each year for "such exercises as shall tend to encourage the planting, protection and preservation of trees and shrubs, and an acquaintance with the best methods to be adopted to accomplish such results."

While Arbor Day is chiefly concerned, of course, with the planting of trees and the beautifying of school grounds, in a larger sense it may well be an occasion for inculcating a love of nature in all its forms. To know trees, not only by their names and material uses, but to know them as friends whose protection we find comfort and whose beauty and stateliness is a joy and daily inspiration; to know the birds, the flowers and the other forms of wild life that flourish where trees abound, this is the message of Arbor Day. May it be brought to all the children of the state.

Therefore let us plant trees and care for them; let us make our playgrounds and schoolhouses clean and attractive; let us, moreover, learn to know and love nature. Thus shall we not only increase our knowledge, but become happier and more useful citizens of this beautiful state.

FRANK P. GRAVES,
Commissioner of Education.

Lincoln Made Singer Famous

Request to Have Song Repeated Resulted in Fame to Singer, Who Later Gave 4,000 Out of 5,000 Recitals for Charity.

Fredonia, N. Y., March 3 (AP).—Of the many famous persons who are buried within the borders of New York state, probably one of the least known today is Philip Phillips, singer and hymn writer of a generation ago, whose body rests in beautiful Forest Hill Cemetery here.

Born on the shores of Cassadaga Lake, Chautauqua county, in 1834, Phillips rose to be one of the most famous singers of his day, and during the early days of the Civil War came into particular prominence as the man who was requested to sing "Your Mission" for President Lincoln.

The story was broadcast nationwide at the time, but since has dropped from the memory of most persons. Phillips was leading a service of the United States Christian Commission at Washington, and during the evening, he sang "Your Mission."

Shortly afterward there was handed to the chairman, William H. Seward, this request: "Near the close let us have 'Your Mission' repeated by, Mr. Phillips—don't say I called for it—Lincoln." The story did leak out however, and the next morning every newspaper reader in the country knew of Mr. Lincoln's request, and it made the singer nationally famous.

Touring Europe and Great Britain in 1865, Mr. Phillips widened his reputation, and later visited other countries, including the Holy Land, where what he regarded as the greatest privilege of his life came when he sang in the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem. When he concluded his tour of Holland he left sufficient money to build an orphanage.

Upon his return to the United States, he was urged by friends to tell of his travels, and he conceived the idea of illustrating his songs and accounts of his journeyings. "Around the World in a Chariot of Song," he called the entertainment, and during the rest of his career he gave it nearly 5,000 times, 4,000 of which were for charity.

He died in 1895 and was buried in the Fredonia Cemetery. Local residents still have vivid recollections of him, made the more notable by the residence here of his niece, formerly Winifred Phillips, who is the wife of former Supreme Court Justice John S. Lambert, now retired.

Companion-Car to Cadillac

This new car is Cadillac's response to the demand for a car of Cadillac calibre to fill a slightly varying field of usefulness.

The congenial task of creating this companion-car to Cadillac has gone on carefully for nearly four years.

The luminous result is a rarely beautiful car of most brilliant performance—the LaSalle—companion-car in every sense of the word to the Cadillac as Rene Robert Cavelier Sieur de LaSalle himself was companion in distinguished achievement to that other great early-American, Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac.

The LaSalle is manufactured completely by the Cadillac Motor Car Company within its own plants.

HI-Y MEMBERS HEAR TALK BY S. M. WATTS

The members of the Hi-Y Club met and partook of a supper served by the Auxiliary Wednesday night and all enjoyed the delicious menu. After the meal the organization repaired to the educational rooms of the Y. M. C. A. where an interesting talk was given by S. M. Watts, sales manager of the Kingston Coal Co., concerning the entrance of young men into business. The address was much appreciated and the boys gained much from the thoughts that Mr. Watts expressed. The next speaker at the Hi-Y meeting will be Max Reben, who has talked to the organization in the past on very interesting subjects.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 3 (AP)—Sharp recoveries took place throughout today's stock market. Bear traders, who had sold stocks freely yesterday on exaggerated reports concerning the illness of George F. Baker, veteran capitalist, were forced to compete in their covering operations with speculators for the advance, who bought heavily into the recent favorites.

Banks called about $15,000,000 in loans, but plenty of funds were available in the call loan market at the renewal rate of 4 per cent.

Reports that the Utah Copper Company had taken steps to restrict production of the red metal, another advance of ten points in lead prices and the raising of the annual dividend on Utah from 60 to 80 cents all contributed a more cheerful speculative outlook for the coppers. American Smelting and Federal Mining and Smelting Preferred led the advance in that group.

Independent Steels were aided by the stiffening in scrap prices in the Pittsburgh area and reports showing February pig iron output to be not only the largest of any month since last November, but also in excess of February 1926. Rubber shares again moved forward under the leadership of Goodrich. Motors also received good support despite the circulation of pessimistic sales and price cutting reports.

REED CHALLENGES NEW CREDENTIALS OF VARE.

Washington, March 3 (AP).—Presentation of the new credentials of William S. Vare, Senator-elect from Pennsylvania, by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, injected a new controversy in the tangled senate situation today.

The credentials were signed by Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania, and superseded a more indefinite election certificate sent to the senate by the former governor, Gifford Pinchot.

Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, chairman of the special committee which investigated the Pennsylvania primary and election, immediately challenged the validity of the new certificate.

Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, also objected and Reed of Missouri argued that the dying Senate was powerless to act on the Vare election, which is being contested by Democratic opponent, William B. Wilson.

The action of Governor Fisher was described by the Missourian as "spurious." He moved that the senate "do not receive these credentials."

Odd Complication Due to Immigration Laws

New York.—A complication made possible by the immigration laws was revealed the other day on the arrival of the French liner France, when Mrs. Maria Carrall, who was born in Tampa, Fla., was sent to Ellis Island as an alien, while her husband, Domingo Carrall, born in Spain and not naturalized, was allowed to land.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrall sailed for Spain last spring, accompanied by their five children, and as Carrall was an alien he obtained a return permit. Mrs. Carrall, believing that she was an American citizen, neglected to do this.

When she attempted to land she discovered that according to the law in force at the time of her marriage she had taken her husband's citizenship. She was taken to Ellis Island, but later was paroled by Commissioner Day pending a ruling from Washington.

London's False Teeth

Most persons have the idea from his books that Jack London was a huge, roistering fellow, prime of health and sturdy of fist. He was, also, a sharpy, and Frank O'Connell, a New York newspaper man, who was on many [illegible] of other than [illegible] kind with London and who lived with him for a considerable period, relates that Jack had a set of false teeth which he carefully put on a floor beside his bed every night.—McNaught's Monthly.

Interment was in the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery where services were conducted by the Rev. Father Huband.

The funeral of William H. Ten Broeck formerly of this city, who died at Springfield, Mass., Sunday, February 27, was held on Wednesday, at 2:30 p. m., at the Funeral Chapel of A. Carr & Son, No. 1 Pearl street. It was largely attended by relatives and friends. The Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the First Reformed Church, officiated and after conducting the service delivered an eulogy, the Ten Broeck family for years being members and workers of the church. Tuesday evening the members of Kingston Lodge of Elks conducted the Elks' funeral service when they assembled at the Funeral Chapel of A. Carr & Son. Interment was in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Farm Bureau Tractor School

Ulster County Farm Bureau With James Millard Cooperating Will Hold a Five Day Tractor School, Beginning Monday, March 7.

Final arrangements have been completed by the Ulster County Farm Bureau with James Millard cooperating, for the holding of the first tractor school ever held by the Farm Bureau in the county. This school is to be a five-day affair at which an intensive course in the care and repairing of all makes of tractors will be given by instructors B. L. Jennings and F. W. Barrett. Tractor owners are bringing in their own tractors regardless of the make. In addition to studying tractor engine principles and care they will themselves overhaul and repair their own machines under the instructor's supervision.

In outlining the purpose and reason for holding such a school Manager Wigsten points out the many valuable lessons to be taught in the proper care of the "Iron Horse." He states it is of great value to know when a repair job has been properly done and to have an experienced man point out the effect of letting something go when repair is needed. Reseating and refacing valves is one lesson to be given; the need of over-sized pistons, how to properly check up and tighten bearings; effect of running loose bearings; effect of the air washer on the motor and many other valuable points in the use and care of the tractor.

While this is the first school held in the county all indications point toward its being even a greater success than were the recent blacksmith and farm shop schools.

A complete program for the entire five days follows. Those planning to attend should be present on the opening day rather than to wait to register later in the week.

The program:

Explaining Meteors

Meteors are never seen from the earth except when they come in contact with the earth's atmosphere. Their speed through the atmosphere causes them to burn and produce the light which we see. They are then within the clutches of the gravity of the earth and always fall toward it.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Ringing Shoes Down in Florida

Frank DuFlon Writes Friends of Horseshoes Activities and Sends Score of Tournament—Hears Billy Sunday Preaching to 10,000 Crowd.

Frank DuFlon of this city, who spends the winter months at Tampa, Florida, writes an interesting letter of activities there, and also encloses score of the horseshoe tournament which was finished at St. Petersburg on February 24, and won by C. C. Davis. Putt Mossman, former champion, who was at the Ulster County Farm Bureau and Chamber of Commerce picnic at Forsyth Park last summer, finished fifth in the tournament.

Mr. DuFlon writes that Davis, who won the tournament is a former champion, and one of the best players he ever saw. In some games he had sixty and seventy ringers. DuFlon, himself, played in a match game at Tampa and won all three games. In his last game he made thirty ringers and six double ringers.

He also umpired a game of volley ball for the Washington team of the American League who are in spring training in Florida.

The last day in February was an extremely warm day, Mr. DuFlon writes and he was forced to don his Palm Beach suit. He has also heard Billy Sunday who is preaching to an audience of 10,000 every afternoon and evening.

Mr. DuFlon writes that he is enjoying the best of health and sends his regards to all his friends.

Dozens of Bakers.

"Hey boss! rustle us out some more bread, we're all out again," yelled Tom from the pastry counter as The Boss strode down the aisle.

"I'll surely have to hire more bakers, our dough mixers can't keep up with the demand, ruminated The Boss as he sped back after the rush order.

"Say Hank! do you know of some good bakers I can get in a hurry"? questioned The Boss.

"No, but why don't you advertise in The Freeman?"

"But I want some immediately. If you advertise about two or three answer and when you have sorted them out you haven't any left," grumbled The Boss.

"I speak from experience Boss. Take a chance. It costs but a quarter."

The Boss 'phoned 2200 and dictated the following:

WANTED—Bakers. Apply ———————

"Tom, you missed your calling," excitedly ejaculated The Boss Monday morning as his pastry clerk strolled in for work. "You should be giving out tips on a race track. I just ousted 39 prospective bakers that mobbed the place. The others are upstairs working already. I thought I'd have to call for police protection."

This sketch is based upon an experience of a Freeman advertiser.

White Ant Keeps Busy

The most reproductive insect in the world is the white ant, which lays 60,000 eggs a day, according to Liberty.

TERSE TRUISMS

Ever notice how polite the average man is when he has something to sell?

A few days later the average man begins to boast of the good deed he did by mistake.

It's difficult for a woman to make a dollar go farther than the nearest bargain counter.

After making a strenuous effort to get out of a rut, many a man finds himself in a hole.

AROUND THE CITY

There is generally more discord in a church choir than the music would indicate.

Even if every man has his price, it doesn't always accord with his market value.

The Cynical Bachelor observes that where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to get married.

You never can tell. Some women seem partial to men, others seem quite impartial.

The half of the world that doesn't know how the other half lives is not the feminine half.

We all want a run for our money, not stopping to consider that we may have to walk back.

The man who makes a cloak of his religion may eventually land where it's too warm for a cloak.

Whenever the devil feels the need of a good, hearty laugh he goes to a cemetery and reads the tombstone inscriptions.

"To err is human," quoted the Wise Guy. "And to say 'I told you so' is even more human," suggested the Simple Mug.

PELLETS OF TRUTH

The fellow who is riding his hobby expects all the world to get out of his way.

Every doctor knows a lot of women who can get sick whenever he needs the money.

Some people will even dodge pleasure in their eagerness to run and meet trouble.

A pessimist is a fellow who expects nothing, and is disappointed if he doesn't get it.

The Cynical Bachelor observes that the people who marry for money earn every penny of it.

Any poker player will tell you that misfortune comes in pairs, if the other fellow holds three of a kind.

According to the Bible man was made a little lower than the angels. But little is a mighty elastic word.

Muggins—"Puffdup has a wonderful vocabulary. He talks like a book." Buggins—"Yes, like an autobiography."

WIT AND WISDOM

Fashion note: A woman would rather know what the bride is married in than to.

"Pay as you go is a good motto," declares a writer. Among hotel proprietors, though, a better one is, pay before you go.

A woman novelist is of the opinion that a man ought to do his own mending. "As a man rips, so shall he sew," is evidently her motto.

"Among a certain section of modern women the lack of a sense of humor is obvious," observes a writer. Some women, however, can take jokes. Look at their husbands.

Much comment has been excited by a New York actress refusing to have her name in electric lights outside the theater where she is appearing. The fact that this decision has caused a sensation indicates that she knows what she's doing.

BILLVILLE BRIEFS

All the literary folk in this section are hard at work swearing at the weather.

Judging by the way he's keeping up steam, the fireman in the sun hasn't time to mop his brow.

With the Georgia watermelon cooling in the 60-foot well, we can snap our fingers at the ice trust.

Not one of the world reformers has tried his hand at reforming the weather.

Politics is so hot on the hereafter the voters may give some of the candidates.

The modern prodigal son has sampled the veal so often that he's too fat to go to work for a living.—Atlanta Constitution.

Ericsson's Inventions

The screw propeller for steamships was patented by its inventor, John Ericsson, February 1, [illegible]. The designing and building of the famous Monitor were also the work of Ericsson. He came to America from Sweden at the age of thirty-five.

OFFICE CAT

"And this," said the artist, "is my latest frieze."

"How perfectly wonderful," said the appreciative flapper. "It actually makes me shiver to look at it!"

Insomnia is sometimes caused by not being on good terms with one's conscience.

"Say, pa."

"Well, my son."

"I took a walk through the cemetery today and read the inscriptions on the tombstones."

"Well, what about it?"

"Where are all the wicked people buried?"

There may be plenty of work to do if you will only look for it. The trouble with some people seems to be that by the time they find it their energy is all but gone.

Humorous Stuff.

The editor called for some "humorous stuff"
To keep his subscribers smiling.
And so I thought I'd send him some
To keep the mush pot biling.

I wandered in imagination
From Panama to Puget
And thus for seven days or more,
Showed tempus how to fugit.

I burned the midnight incandescent—
Blew out a couppla fuses.
And trespassed on the hours of sleep
To propitiate the muses.

But dil a bit of humorous stuff,
Rewarded all my labors,
I began to think that writing jokes,
Ain't much of a snap, be jabers.

At last my wife, good soul, revolted,
To my deep humiliation;
And did the neighbors' washing,
To procrastinate starvation.

I walked the floor and tore my hair,
And frequently I swore some.
Until the game of humorsque—
Grew mighty stale and boresome.

On every day, in every way,
As long as I could stand it—
I did my darndest and then quit;
The H C L demands it.

I might get rich a raising pigs,
Or maybe selling paint.
But however I bring the bacon home,
As a humorist—I ain't.

Customer—I want to return this book I bought, "Stories for all Occasions".

Bookseller—What's the matter with it?

"It's a fake! There's nothing in it for a man to tell his wife when he gets home late."

"Tommy, isn't it rather extravagant to eat both butter and jam on your bread at the same time?"

"Oh, no, mother. It's economy. You see the same piece of bread does for both."

Brass rushes in where brains fear to tread.

Nearly every man who loses his old hen takes to chicken chasing.

MORGAN HILL.

Morgan Hill, March 3.—All in this section who have been ill with bronchial colds or sore throat, are recovering.

Qutie a large number attended an old fashioned dance at Ferro's Pine Crest Hall last Saturday night in response to invitations issued by the Misses Elsie Barthel and Edna Wieland. The hall was decorated with pink and blue streamers.

Despite much inclement weather there has been regular attendance at school here by teacher and children. The children however, admit that they are tired now of colds and snow.
